EBON TURK ACTS AS INTERPRE TER DURING TRIAL.

From his bedside in the little court room at Bingham, Deputy Sheriff Lafayette Chidester will give testimony this afternoon relative to the Austrian feud of March 24, which, the authorities hope, will send four Austrians to prison on a charge of assault with intent to murder. Deputy Sheriff Chidester suffered the amputation of his right leg as a result of a gunshot wound during the fight. It is largely through him that District Attorney F. C. Loofbourow hopes to prove that in the very fore of the fight in which he was injured and Antonio Starcevic killed.

Turk as interpreter.

Those who attended the trial yes-Those who attended the trial yesterday afternoon will probably remember longer than any other feature that of a colored man, acting as interpreter for Austrians. That is, the majority must have thought the interpreter an Ethiopian, for he was as black as any minstrel. The man, however, is a Turk, John Wackstein, of Ogden. He speaks the dialect common to the people of southwestern Austria-Hungary, where that empire laps Turkey, and where that empire laps Turkey, and where there are many having names resembling those of the defendants, with "s-z's and s-v's and d-m's" run-

BUYERS ARE CONTRACTING FOR WOOL. YET TO BE GROWN, AT 22 CENTS A POUND

Wool buyers are on the ground already looking for Utah's clip of next spring. They are offering good prices and the prospect of 24 and 25 cent wool looks bright to some sheepmen.

As it is, 22 cents has been offered and contracts have closed for that amount. More than fifty Utah sheepmen have already sold the wool that is not yet grown on the backs of the sheep. This buying in advance, a development of the past ten years in the wool market, has made a wonderful difference in dealings between wool and sheep men. It has also changed the entire system of doing things. The purchase of wool is now a gamble, and as a rule the nervy men win.

As a consequence, nerve is entering into the present movement to get hold of Utah's wool clip, a clip which is nine months away. Idaho sheepmen are also being approached, and it looks as if pretty much all the clip would be contracted for before the end of summer.

LOCAL BRIEFS

HOBO TRIO IN JAIL.—James Hicks, William Carrol and Vincent O'Neill, a trio of hobo peddlers, were arrested by Patrolman Bert Seager yesterday afternoon charged with yagrancy. O'Neill is known to the police as a decidedly undesirable character. He was picked up last winter along with a couple of highwaymen who were subsequently convicted for a bold robbery. The man claims to be deaf and dumb and begs and peddles imitation jewelry. Hicks and Carrol are if anything frowsler in appearance than O'Neill and make their living in the same dubious manner.

THIEF GETS NINETY DAYS.—Ninety days for $10 worth of brass is the penalty meted out to A. C. Hayford by Judge Whitaker yesterday. The defendant had stolen some fittings from the Oregon Short Line yards three days ago and was arrested by Mounted Officer C. A. Sperry. He pleaded guilty to the petit larceny charge. His, wife and boy were in the court room when he was sentenced and the woman was overcome with grief.

NOLAN BOUND OVER Percy Nolan

Wackstein was summoned as an interpreter owing to the objection of the defendants' counsel, A. J. Weber, that George Prijanovitch was not competent.

The afternoon hearing dragged slowly along owing to the necessity of constant repetition, and nothing was brought forth of great consequence, Counsel and others interested in the case will leave at 8:10 this morning via the Rio Grande for Bingham.

Wackstein was summoned as an interpreter owing the woman was overcome with grief.

NOLAN BOUND OVER.—Percy Nolan was bound over on a burglary charge by Judge Whitaker yesterday morning. Nolan is the man whom Nightwatchman Robert Neilson captured in the rear of the Thirteenth ward store on Main street. Nolan's explanation of his presence on top of a barrel in front of a transom whose glass had just been broken out dient convince the court, who fixed his bonds at $250. They weren't furnished and the defendant is now in the county jail.

CUTTING AFFRAY REVIEWED.—C.
A. Allen, the negro who used a razor on Archie Webb during a row over work in the Pullman cars in the Oregon Short Line yards, was yesterday bound over to the district court to answer the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The trouble took place two weeks ago. Webb was not seriously cut.

PHONY WATCH THE CAUSE

Robert Huff Gets $10 on Timepiece Worth $4 and is Arrested.

Sheriff Emery is investigating the story told by Robert Huff, who was arrested yesterday at Bingham Junction just after he had obtained $10 on a "gold jeweled, guaranteed watch," which is worth at the most $10. The proprietor of the Leader store at the junction advanced $10 on the timepiece after Huff had made endeavors in several quarters to raise money. Huff was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff D. R. Beckstead before the coin had a chance to find a resting place in his pocket, and was brought into Salt Lake in the afternoon.

Huff, however, is being held and Sheriff Emery stated yesterday that a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses would be filed against him. Huff claims that he obtained the watch in a trade at Pueblo, Colo., about two weeks ago. He says he gave his own watch and $4 to boot for the time-piece. En route to Butte, where he wanted work, he became stranded at Brigham Junction, he says, and for this reason gave the watch as security for the advance of money. Huff is from Missouri.

jects kindred to reclamation of arid lands, in sectional meetings.

There was an apparently wide difference of opinion between the officials of the reclamation service and the delegates on the effectuality of the present national law. The resolutions committee, before whom the actual work of the congress is proceeding, emphatically set its foot down today on the foreign immisration resolution introduced at the general session yesterday by William Smythe of California. Judge J. E. Baker of California opposed the resolution on the ground that it was a move to inject a political issue into the proceedings of the congress. The subject has been disposed of temporarily.

Another resolution on which the committee sounded a death knell was one which favored amending the reclamation law in the interest of large land holders.
